5.2. Access to data

Your personal data may be accessed by the head of the Department responsible for the organization and running of the event and by the staff involved in the organization of the conference and the compilation of the conference volume, to the extent necessary for the performance of their work, subject to purpose.

5.3. Data transmission

Your data will not be passed on to third parties, but the project documentation may be accessed by authorized domestic and European Union bodies within their control powers.

6. Rights of data subjects in relation to data processing

You may exercise your data management rights at the contact details indicated in point 1. You can also contact Dr. Károly Bodnár directly at the event at bodnar.karoly.lajos@uni.mate.hu. If you wish to exercise any of the following rights, please do so during the retention period, otherwise we will only be able to notify you of the deletion of your data.

6.1. Right to withdraw consent

In the case of personal data processed on the basis of consent (3.2), you may withdraw your consent at any time without giving any reason. Withdrawal of consent shall not affect the lawfulness of any prior processing [Article 7 GDPR].

6.2. Right to information and access

You can request information on whether your personal data is being processed and, if so, which personal data we are processing, on what legal basis, for what purpose, from what source and for how long. You can request access to the personal data you handle, e.g. in the form of a copy. The request will be complied with within 30 days [Article 15 GDPR].

6.3. Right of correction

You can request the correction of your personal data: modification, correction or addition. We will try to comply with the request without delay [Article 16 GDPR].

6.4. Right of cancellation and forgetting

You can request the deletion of your personal data. We will endeavor to comply with your request without delay. Your data will also be deleted if you withdraw your consent to data processing. A cancellation request will result in the withdrawal of your intention to attend the event.

We would like to inform you that the deletion of the data published in the conference volume, due to its nature, is not possible, taking into account the specifics of disclosure and Internet technology [Article 17 GDPR].

6.5. Right to restrict data management

You may request a restriction on data processing [Article 18 GDPR],

- if they think they are inaccurate, not up to date. In this case, data processing is suspended for as long as the accuracy of the data is verified.
- if the data processing is illegal and you object to the deletion of your personal data. In this case, the data is locked.
- if we no longer need the data, but you request it to make, enforce or protect legal claims.

6.6. The right to data portability

You have the right to receive a copy of your automated personal data in a widely used, machine-readable format, or to request that your data be transferred directly to another data controller. The request will be complied with within 30 days [Article 20 GDPR].

7. Redress options related to data management

The data protection officer of the University is entitled to act in the case of problems and remarks related to data management. Please be the first to report the problem to the contact details listed in point 1. We will investigate the issue as soon as possible and try to find a solution and rule out the possibility of this happening in the future.

If the problem is still not resolved, an investigation may be initiated with the court competent to act in the place of residence or with the National Data Protection and Freedom of Information Authority (hereinafter: the Authority) on the grounds of a personal data breach.
